

PATHWAYS

There are many options available to you as you move into the senior years of secondary school and beyond. Very often the options you select are influenced by what you would like to do when you finish secondary school. This may mean going on to study at University, TAFE or a Private Provider. It may be taking on a traineeship or apprenticeship or moving into full-time work. The program of study you select in your senior years needs to be designed to allow you to achieve the goals you have set for yourself. If you are yet to decide which pathway is the right one for you, you will need to select a program of study that keeps your options open and your pathways flexible.
